Do you know some of today's biggest workplace trends are linked to motivation? Have you been asking yourself any of these questions?

- Why does it seem that my employees are not interested or excited about returning to the office?
- Why do we have trouble filling open positions and where are all the quality candidates?
- My employees have not been able to recover from "COVID fatigue." Why?
- How do I retain my quality employees and "light a fire" under those who seem to just be hanging on?

If you find yourself struggling with any of the above, we can help you find the answers at the Fall MLI "Understanding Motivation – The reason or reasons one has for acting or behaving in a certain way." This 1.5-day seminar will be offered October 13 - 14 at NIU Naperville. Be sure to register today at MidwestLeadershipInstitute.org.
